

ICEWEB AND THERMOPYLAE SCIENCE AND TECHNOLOGY (TST) PARTNER TO OFFER THE ENTERPRISE VISUALIZATION APPLIANCE POWERED BY GOOGLE EARTH ENTERPRISE™ AND SELECT DATA STORAGE PRODUCTS ON GSA CONTRACT SCHEDULE 70

STERLING, Va. – (MARKET WIRE) – March 17, 2011 – IceWEB, Inc.™ (OTCBB: IWEB), www.IceWEB.com, a leading provider of Unified Data Storage and building blocks for cloud storage networks, announced today that it is partnering with TST to offer the Enterprise visualization appliance powered by Google Earth on GSA contract, GS-35F-0084V, Schedule 70, providing government customers the ability to conveniently purchase and deploy the appliance and IceWEB Storage systems. The IceWEB EVA Appliance, announced separately, offers customers high performance, easy to implement and managed enterprise GIS platform coupled with industry leading data storage that provides integrated SAN/NAS functionality on a single platform.

IceWEB's inclusion on the GSA schedule was enabled by an agreement with Thermopylae Science & Technology, a leading government IT solutions provider and Google Earth Enterprise™ partner based in Arlington, VA that specializes in cyber security, software development, geospatial software, and mobile technologies

“The government's interest in superior and innovative solutions for hosting Google Enterprise products and data is significant,” said A.J. Clark, President of Thermopylae Sciences + Technology. “Storage solutions are a critical part of a sound infrastructure for these systems and we find that agencies are hungry for an alternative to existing legacy enterprise storage systems. We expect IceWEB will find a welcome home in many agencies and our GSA Schedule will make it easier for them to access them.”

“Our IceWEB storage system provides government customers a high performance, easily managed enterprise storage solution,” said Tim McNamee, Director of Federal Channels at IceWEB. “We partnered with T-Sciences because the company has a proven track record of delivering innovative solutions to its enterprise government clients.”
